PROFESSOR ALEX C BARRY'S

TRICOPHEROUS, or Medicated Compound,

FOR beautifying improving, and preserving the Hair curing cuts bruises burns stings, rheumatism and all irritations of the skin. A preparation, the sale of which amounts to one million of bottles annually, would seem to need no advertisement, but as the thousands who purchase use and approve of it have probably no idea of the enormous extent of the business done by Professor Barry, he gives herewith a plain statement of facts derived from his books and with them tenders his earnest and hearty thanks to his innumerable patrons.

Professor Barry's accounts of sales for the year 1852, show that during that year about 910 000 ... of his Tricopherous were disposed of, and that the cash product of this immense sale was nearly $100 000.

The plain unvarnished tale is a better commentary on the value of the article than any thing its inventor could say. If it were not peerless in itself or upon the hair—if it were not invaluable as a household remedy for cuts, bruises, burns, skin diseases &c—it would not, of course be so universally in demand. The wealthy portion of the public would buy it at any price but Professor Barry has reduced it to a figure so low that the poor ... can avail themselves of its benefits.

Sold in large bottles [price 25 cents] at wholesale and retail at the manufactory and depot 137 Broadway New York and by the principal merchants and druggists throughout the United States and Canada Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France &c

McFarland's BURGLAR and FIRE PROOF SAFES!

A FEW of these celebrated Safes have arrived from New York and those who are ... of superior article which has ... tested in the last ten years in every ... call and examine them. Read what the New York Press say of them in regard to the late great fire in New York. Further comment is unnecessary.

[From the Journal of Commerce of August 27th]

Messrs B F Pond & Hitchcock ... Water street oil merchants inform us that their Safe (one of McFarland Fire Proof) at the great fire of the Pearl st House although exposed for thirteen hours to the combined effects of burning ... and other Oils and a broken Gas Pipe directly underneath it preserved their books and papers in the most perfect order. They were not injured in the least manner.

[From the New York Evening Mirror, of Aug 27th]

MCFARLAND'S SAFES AT THE GREAT FIRE IN THE PEARL STREET HOUSE.—Looking at the ruins of the great fire yesterday we noticed in Water street several of McFarland's Safes, which were being taken out of the ruins. The inside of which were all in good order. One of them in particular deserves especial notice. It belonged to Messrs Pond and Hitchcock oil merchants No 56 Water street and was exposed to the very hottest part of the fire being covered with burning oil and spirits and directly under a broken gas pipe from which the gas was ... in large quantities and producing an intense heat. It remained in this fiery furnace for thirteen hours and we are informed by Mr Pond the owner that when opened his books and papers were found to be in a perfect state of preservation not even being scorched, and hardly bearing the smell of fire thus proving itself a perfect salamander. Every merchant should examine them and be convinced of their fire proof qualities as one half dozen others of the same make were in the fire and every one preserved its contents from the least damage.

[From the New York Tribune of August 30th]

The reputation of McFarland's celebrated Fire Proof Safes have lost nothing at the late great fire, as usual preserving their contents uninjured and saving many thousands of dollars for their owners. These safes have built for themselves a colossal reputation and are adding to it at every fire. McFarland's motto is "Excelsior"

[From the New York Herald of Aug 29th]

Another convincing proof of the superiority of McFarland's Fire Proof Safes over all others as a protection against fire is the Safe which can now be seen at the ruins of the great fire on Tuesday night at the Pearl st House where it was exposed in the oil store of Messrs Pond & Hitchcock No 56 Water st for thirteen hours to the combined effects of burning oil and spirits. Books and papers inside were not even scorched

These Safes are for sale at No 49 West Market Square, Bangor.

John S Sayward, Editor

THURSDAY OCT. 27, 1853.

☞ Edmund Burke of New Hampshire is engaged in writing an interesting chapter in the political history of General Pierce and the democratic party leaders, showing the use which may at times be made of conventions.

It appears that for months before the Baltimore Convention, it became apparent to some of the leading politicians tha neither Cass, Buchanan or Douglass could be nominated and that the convention would be under the necessity of fall back upon a compromise candidate The friends of General Pierre believed that he could be made available, as the record of his political life was such, as without the slightest break, could not but be satisfactory to the democracy of the south. Mr Burke states that he conversed with from fifty to one hundred leading politicians upon this subject, and also corresponded with General Pierce himself, and procured articles to be published in the Philadelphia Ledger and Baltimore Sun, foreshadowing such design.

General Pierce expressed his desire that at the Baltimore Convention the New Hampshire delegation should not throw their votes unanimously for any one candidate before the convention, and gave as a reason that the united vote of New Hampshire would have a great moral force with the democracy of the Union and would endanger the necessity for adopting a compromise candidate Rooms for the New Hampshire delegation were engaged at the Eutaw House, in Baltimore, and the votes in the convention were given for various candidates in order to carry out the wishes of General Pierce, and secure an opportunity for his nominat on The anticipated contingency arose by Virginia bringing forward the name of Gen Pierce, and from that moment the entire delegation of New Hampshire gave him a united vote until he was nominated

This chapter of history is an interesting and important one, both as letting the light in upon the President's statement that the office was unsought by him, and also as to the political complexion of the men who arranged matters for him

Mr Burke indirectly, but significantly, gives it as his opinion that the President is not a man of truth and honor, and that he has proved a traitor to those of his friends who labored to advance his interests, and secure for him the high office he now holds. In this opinion the Hard Shell democracy generally agree They feel as they have been greatly cheated, and that in the dismissal of Collector Bronson of New York, the President has filled up the measure of political iniquity—it is consummated and sealed his treachery, and will henceforth meet their decided opposition.

On the assembling of Congress, in December, the Hard Shell Democrats will organize the party in opposition to the administration, with perhaps this ultimatum, that the President shall remodel his Cabinet upon the basis of the Hard Shell democracy, and conduct the administration upon that platform possibly thus one opportunity more may be allowed the President to return Should even this be allowed, it will not avail as the President is now committed to the keeping of men in whose brains he has more confidence than in his own, and his four years service will hand him high and dry among the fragments of political wrecks.

There will be much activity, and bustle in political circles for a few months—much of earnest discussion and action. The power of the patronage of the Government is to be tested against the integrity of men, and the power of politics, consistency and integrity. The developments will be highly interesting, and the new combination of political elements will form an important chapter in the political history of the times, which every man should note and understand.

☞ The Portland State of Maine declares that it is opposed to the granting of the public lands of the State, including those recently purchased of Massachusetts, for any railroad, canal, or in large quantities to any person but that their sale be confined to single lots, and to actual settlers the lots to be sold at half price

Various efforts have been made to establish some method for the disposal of the public lands in Maine, but no satisfactory system has been adopted and we fear will not be, but the whole matter lies as a foot-ball to be kicked about by political managers or left to the varying fastes and prejudices of those having sectional interests and jealousies.

There should be a complete and comprehensive system for a thorough survey and laying of the settling lands and the location of roads, and so far as actually needed, the construction of the roads, by the State, so that purchasers and settlers can go at once to their lands on a highway made for their use. But the joint ownership of large tracts of land by individuals and the State may be found inconvenient for the working of a system like this, although there may be localities where this plan could be adopted. At any rate, now that Maine has purchased large tracts of land, we strongly desire to see all the lands of the State disposed of to the best advantage to the growth and prosperity of the State, and this we are satisfied can only be done gradually.

☞ The steamer Boston arrived at Boston at three o'clock on Wednesday Morning. She left Boston last evening at five o'clock and will reach here today at noon, and save here tomorrow her usual hour.

The steamer Penobscot left Boston yesterday afternoon, will arrive here today and leave to-morro (Friday) at 10 o'clock.

☞ The freshet in the river has brought down the logs to Oldtown in great abundance The trip boom broke and the logs soon filled the river, lancing about in all directions. Yesterday afternoon it was reported that the main boom has broken and the logs were coming rapidly to the city.

☞ Carle's Ethiopian Serenaders will give another of their mirth-provoking and humorous entertainments at the City Hall on this evening, and another tomorrow evening.

The Dismissal of Collector Bronson.

From the Washington Union

With all these facts before him, [the opposition to the Administration of J E Cooley and J T Brady,] Collector Bronson entered the field as an acute and zealous advocate of that organization which stands stamped, in its origin and in every step of its progress and hostility to the administration. By his letter to the Tammany Committee he threw all the weight of his high judicial as well as his high official character and station in opposition to the administration, and when rebuked for his disregard of the known policy of the President, he comes forward in a spirit of arrogant defiance, and rebels against the authority of his superiors in office. This letter of Mr. Bronson completes the chain of evidence, and presents him before the country in the same attitude of open hostility which had been previously assumed by Messrs Cooley and Brady

We do not suppose that it has ever occurred to any sensible man that the President could for a moment tolerate such insubordination as Mr Bronson exhibits in his letter to Mr Guthrie. We cannot suppose for an instant that Mr Bronson could have calculated on retaining his office after such an act of insubordination He has evidently sought the sympathy which always attaches to the fate of the martyr, but he should have remembered that sympathy in the manly bosom is alone reserved for those who make sacrifices for their country or its principle, not for men who are animated by selfish objects and bow to the demands of passion and prejudice

We shall have more to say of Mr Bronson's letter and its palpable inherent contradictions hereafter The following letters of Secretary Guthrie need no comment

SATURDAY MORNING, Oc 22

SIR Recently I addressed a letter to Collector Eton and other Officers of the Customs in the City of New York.

By some means an imperfect copy of that letter, purporting to have been communicated from New York by telegraph, was published in one of the papers of this City

This rendered it proper for me to give to the public a correct copy, and upon the ground of that publication, and under such circumstance, Collector Bronson published his long delayed reply even before his original had reached me

Under these circumstances, I deem it proper to transmit to you for publication the enclosed letter Very respectfully,

JAMES GUTHRIE

WASHINGTON, Saturday, Oct. 22, 1853

SIR I have received your letter of the 17th instant.

It is not my purpose to respond to the many positions of that letter, most of them bear their contradiction upon its face, and others are too unimportant to require refutation, and also because, while, in several phrases of it, admitting your implied obligation, as a man of honor, to act in accordance with the known policy of the administration, and, moreover, recognizing the propriety and justice of that policy by declaring that you yourself deprecated and endeavored to prevent the divisions now existing in the Democratic party in your State, you nevertheless indulged in a tenor of remark, as to serious relations of the subject, which not only impugns my motives, but indicates an antipathy on your part wholly incompatible with harmonious co-operation between us, and the proper conduct of the business of the Government.

One suggestion appears in your letter which demands animadversion You allege by implication, that I have desired you to appoint Free Soilers to office, and in doing so you strangely misunderstand or misinterpret my letter of the 30 instant I neither entertained nor expressed any such desire It has been my pleasure and my duty, not to inquire into the opinions which may have been held by yourself and others a far back as the year 1848, but to regard the claims to consideration of all who have acted with fidelity to the principles and organization of the Democratic party since the convention at Baltimore in 1852 and those only [And with these views, I must condemn in our course which in this letter you inform me that you have selected Free Soilers for office without having given me the notice of the fact, which would have enabled me to withhold my approbation from any such appointments I will add, that the imputation that I have required you to act with reference to controversies of a local or state character, as wholly gratuitous My letter was intended to guard you against distinctions between Democrats, founded upon local politics and local divisions

The concluding portion of your letter has left me no alternative but to lay the whole matter before the President, and take his direction concerning it

You assume that in relation to certain things you are to receive instructions from the Department, and in others that you are to proceed without or contrary to, such instructions This cannot be admitted in any branch of the public service, for where the Department is not expressly empowered to give instructions to subordinates, it has the authority to do so as inherent in the power to remove a refractory officer

You also assume that you are to appoint the various persons employed in the Custom House —some, as you admit, subject to my approval, and others, as you seem to conceive, on your sole authority I cannot but regard it as singular that a gentleman of your legal acquirements and experience should have fallen into such error The Constitution of the United States has empowered Congress to confer the appointment of inferior officers "in the president alone in the courts of law or in the heads of departments." Congress has not attempted, nor it is had, could it have effected any modification of this provision of the Constitution

Those who are employed under you in the Custom House do, both by the Constitution and the laws derive their appointment and their authority as public officers from the Secretary of the Treasury alone.

What the language and temper of your letter would have rendered embarrassing these unwarrantable assumptions, marked as they are by a manifest spirit of insubordination, render impossible—namely, your continuance in the office of Collector of the District of New York I am therefore, directed by the President to say that your successor in the office will be promptly appointed

I have the honor to be, very respectfully,

JAMES GUTHRIE

GENERAL C BRONSON, Esq., New York.

☞ On Monday last, there was a snow and hailstorm in Philadelphia, which was followed by a cold rain At Baltimore, the same day, there was a snow storm, and on the roofs snow was one inch deep In Salem, Massachusetts, the same day, beautiful dahlias were in full bloom and the gardens all over the city untouched by the frost.

☞ The Boston Journal says that the money market is not under quite so uncomfortable a pressure as during the previous week, and but for the calls of New York, matters would be found much easier within a few days The renewed stringency in that city brings an increase of borrowers, and domestic exchange is once more turning against us.

Massachusetts State Reform School.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier

Being in Westboro, Mass, a few weeks since, I embraced the opportunity to visit the "Massachusetts State Reform School," which is located in that quiet but beautiful agricultural town, some account of which may be interesting to your readers

The building, which is of brick, is in the form of a hollow parallelogram, and, including the new part, now nearly completed, is 330 feet long and 200 feet wide It stands on a gentle eminence sloping to a small pond that is fringed on one side by a pleasant oak grove and on the other is bordered by green fields and pastures, showing that the selection of the farm and the site of the house was entrusted to persons who understood the soothing and elevating influence of natural beauties upon the morally diseased. Connected with the School there is a farm of 200 acres. In front of the building, and extending from it to the pond, is a garden of four acres tastefully arranged and planted with fruit trees, strawberry and flower beds The berries were gone, but the trees were bending to the ground with luscious fruit while the flowers cheered all with their beauty and fragrance.

At present there are 350 boys in the institution. When the new part is ready for occupancy 600 can be received The pupils spend six hours each day in manual labor They do the washing, ironing and cooking of the establishment; make their clothing, shoes and bedclothes, besides cleaning and making many shoes for employers out of the institution, and doing much labor on the farm According to the report for 1852 00 boys worked in the shoe shop and earned more than $3000 The labor of those working on the farm was estimated in the same report a $2600 The expenses of the institution over and above the proceeds of the workshop and the farm were, during that year, $27,487, or about $78,50 for each boy.

Beside being taught some actual employment they are daily instructed four hours in school — two in the morning and two in the afternoon Most, also, which broods over gray and bad alike," wakening the heart's unconscious powers to life, is taught to them, and on my second visit as I approached the building the sound of their voices rolled out of their school rooms into the open air and formed in my mind a pleasant contrast with the discordant notes of vice and crime that once fell from their lips before they were brought to this hospital of the soul. How painful, thought I, that these boys, some of whom have been living in an atmosphere hot with pollution and death, who have been roaming thro streets without friends or counsel or protect, and sleeping in barrels, or under boxes and carts, or in the damp, open night air, taught, in some instances, by the example or direct precept of their parents to pilfer and swear, can be gathered together in this neat, commodious and beautiful place, removed from many of the temptations that too strongly beset their young feet, to have the paths of virtue and knowledge opened before them They are taken from the purlieus and pestilential airs of vice where the frosts of sin and neglect had chilled their hearts and brought under the general ass of moral influences that will warm the tendrils of good, rooted in their souls, into blooming beauty.

In their school-rooms they behaved as well and seemed as industrious as the same number of boys do in schools generally Some had bright, sparkling eyes, intelligent and even spiritual looking faces In them the discerning eye could see "some village Hampden, or some mute inglorious Milton, who now may display his statesmanship or his "celestial rage" of poesy

Of course, no institution of this kind accomplishes all its ardent friends desire Not all its inmates are permanently improved—some even are hardly touched But still, the results of this School during the five or six years of its existence have been quite as to encourage all connected with it, and to warrant the hope that a very large portion of those permitted to share its favors are improved. Very many who had started on a path of wickedness and crime are turned to a new course and have already given promise of a life of usefulness to themselves and their fellows Such testimony is given in the last annual report as will convince all that this School is doing a work of which Massachusetts may be proud, and that will scatter blessings through the Commonwealth Although some receive but little benefit from their stay there, and others who conduct well for a short time after leaving, slide back at length into their former evil practices, yet the Trustees and other officers of the School are full of hope and enthusiasm, and are frequently receiving letters from those to whom boys have been apprenticed, testifying to the exemplary deportment of those placed under their charge It is unnecessary to quote from such letters

Boys, also, who have been honorably discharged from the institution write to the Superintendent in terms of hearty gratitude that the State has extended a parental hand to rescue and to guide One says "I am now at work at my trade and get along first rate. While I am at work I sometimes think how many happy days I spent while there, and I feel to thank God that I am a better boy, and you for making me so."

Another writes, "I do not know how to express my gratitude for the blessings bestowed upon me when I entered the institution. I do, sir, most truly believe that if I had been allowed to go on, I would have been my ruin.

There was a certain boy taken from Lowell whose parents were both sots, and who, though not over 10 years of age, had been in jail more than a dozen times for petty crimes It was several months after he entered the institution before he manifested any desire to be a good boy. Indeed, the Superintendent feared that he must discharge him as an incorrigible case. At length, however, he came to himself, and from that moment began to improve. He has now gone back to Lowell, the scene of his past offences and temptations, but according to the testimony of the man to whom he is indentured, he is a "model boy"

These, and instances like these, are eloquent testimonies to the usefulness of such institutions.

"The Rough House" at Hamburgh, under the superintendence of Mr Wichern, which was established twenty years ago, confirms the conclusion that children even the most abandoned can be rescued from their vice, if taken in season and treated on principles of love Of the one hundred and seventeen children that have left that School only five can be deemed failures. In some respects this institution is on a better basis than any with which I am acquainted in this country, inasmuch as both sexes are admitted and something like the family relation is preserved, which is of immense value to every individual", besides affording an opportunity of classifying them according to their moral grades.

One thing I noticed in the School at Westboro that seemed unwise The boys all dress alike, which is proper enough, but there appears to be no good reason for stamping on their buttons "Massachusetts State Reform School" So far as possible the pupils should be made to forget that they are criminals under the vigilant watch of the State In a great majority of cases the evil conduct of the boys brought here is to be set down as a misfortune rather than as a crime, and their on lit not to be continually taunted for the disadvantages of their birth and education It is a poor method of reform to make one's guilt, or supposed guilt, too prominent, and the means of reformation too conspicuous. It is hoped that our State will discard such distinctive apparel Notwithstanding this, however, as before said it is believed that the School is doing a work that may cheer every philanthropist heart, and one, too, that will cause many unfortunate boys to rise up and bless the founders of the institution, foremost among whom stands the name of THEODORE LYMAN Jr

☞ The New York papers comment with great severity on the letters of the Secretary of the Treasury and the removal of Collector Bronson The President, by this course, has made a bold movement to strike down all opposition and to make the democratic party his personal party The President has the credit of knowing the men he has to deal with, and it may yet prove true, though we doubt it, that the Hard Shells are not Hard against patronage We shall see who we shall see! Either the President will break them down or they will break him down, and make his administration appear as weak as it is, and expose its corruptions and its grasping for central power

☞ The Bath Mirror learns that no less than five lines were set in Richmond, Sunday night, the house of Mr Dinsmore was the first, the stable of Mr Hager was the next discovered and next the stable of Mr Blair, and next a woodshed on Front street, and lastly in the rear of J J Southard's store. No clue to the incendiaries

☞ During the storm on Monday night the brick end of a large building just erected in South Boston for the manufacture of wire, was blown out and entirely prostrated by the heavy wind Awnings, vanes, and shrubbery in Boston were damaged

One hundred vessels put into Cape Ann, and all escaped injury

☞ In Boston, on Tuesday, several men were killed and others wounded by the falling of a brick wall upon them, which they were endeavoring to push in an opposite direction — Killed outright, James Foster, Michael O Neal, Daniel Curtin Daniel Murray since died

☞ We give our thanks to Mr. Haines, the prompt and gentlemanly clerk of the steamer Governor, for papers received yesterday in advance of the mail

The Portland Advertiser states that fishing schooner Lookout, Capt Littlejohn which arrived at that port 22d, from Bay Chaleur, reports having had 90 barrels of mackerel taken from her by the British cruisers on account of alleged fishing within limits

CARD.

The subscriber wishes to return his sincere and hearty thanks to his brethren, the Free Masons of Belfast, and others for numerous friends for their sympathy, attention and care in his sufferings incident to the accident by which he was severely injured in that city Also, to Capt Thomas Rigers of the steamer Governor, for his many attentions and aid in securing his transfer kindly to the upon a litter. To one and all he would return thanks and grateful remembrances too deep for words

John Bunyan's Immortal Allegory

PROBABLY not a book in the Bible has been more universally read as it unquestionably admired

The Pilgrim's Progress.

It has been illustrated nearly all the different languages of Christendom and been printed and delighted and admired by all nations At the last her attractions were all the former illustrations from the rough Wood Cut to the exquisite Steel engraving But to the middle of the seventeenth century and then American clergyman are we indebted for the only pictorial conception of this immortal work

The novel and sublime idea of embodying the entire story and transferring the same in a single picture following the wanderings of Christian from the City of Destruction to the Celestial City presenting at the view of the eye the varied scenes through which he passed originated with Rev DANIEL WISE of Massachusetts His truly original and beautiful conception was rendered in a most elegant design by HAMMATT BILLINGS and from this design JOSEPH ANDREWS the distinguished steel engraver has produced after four years labor, a picture which will take rank among the superb and delicate productions of human genius Cost at least $10,000

The picture is now ready and will be offered at the Book Stores of the Publishers and by Agents duly appointed by the Publishers

BROKEN China Glass Earthen Ware and Fancy Articles of every description repaired and mended making it as strong as before broken without injuring its appearance

This Cement which has been proved to be of great strength will be found particularly useful in every family, the simple manner of its application as none a recommendation its adhesive property which it contains so no wonder that many things will rather break in a fresh place than where they have been mended with it The variety of purposes for which it may be used are innumerable that it would be difficult to recite them Its success in mending Glass China &c is extraordinary no ordinary degree of heat affecting it and as the joints are scarcely perceptible articles of this kind may be made useful for years, which otherwise would have been cast away

I previously lost a child from a similar complaint and I firmly believe had I in her case adopted your medicines she would have been saved also I shall be happy to testify the truth of this to any enquirer (Signed) J HIRD Draper

DR JOHNSON, Dear Sir—In consequence of having a fever sore on my leg, it became entirely stiff at the knee, and it was decided by the best surgeons that my leg must be amputated—but fortunately I heard of your Anodyne Liniment and by using three bottles, my leg was limbered and strengthened and for a number of years I have been able to use it about as well as the other. TESTIMONIALS

The following certificate from Dr John C Warren, of Boston, was given 17 years since but will last forever

Boston Jan 5 1833

Having had occasion to observe that some persons afflicted with Hernia, have suffered much from the want of a skilful workman in accommodating Trusses to the peculiarities of their cases I have taken pains to inform myself of the competency of Mr J F Foster to supply the deficiency occasioned by the death of Mr Beath—After some months of observation of his work I am well satisfied that Mr Foster is well acquainted with the manufacture of these instruments and ingenious in accommodating to the variety of cases which occur I feel called upon to recommend him to my professional brethren and to the public as a person well fitted to supply their wants in regard to these important articles

JOHN C WARREN M.D.

The undersigned take great pleasure in recommending to the favorable consideration of those who are unhappily afflicted with Hernia, Mr James Frederick Foster as a skillful and competent person in the manufacture and fitting of Trusses We have employed him (some of us over twenty years) and therefore speak from personal knowledge of his abilities His early advantages, his long experience in the business and the large number of individuals whom he has relieved in a variety of cases render him, in our opinion, equal, if not superior to any manufacturer of the article His father Fea Gideon Foster, of Charlestown was master of the Poor house in that town for upwards of twenty four years, during which period Mr Foster availed himself of the opportunity and made application of Trusses in a great variety of cases with great success, some of which were of a very complicated and distressing character

It is well known to all who have occasion to wear a Truss that its great excellence consists in its adaptation to the body at the same time relieving the patient Any ordinary mechanic may make a Truss but none but a skilful practitioner can apply it in such a manner as effectually and oftentimes radically cure the complaint

Our experience has convinced us that Mr Foster has thoroughly attained this knowledge The certificates of Dr J C Warren, and other eminent surgeons, which he has shown to us, fully sustain the opinion we here express
